| Rule:  Suffixes -ally and -ation.  Adjectives can be turned into adverbs by adding -ly. Adjectives ending in -ic, e.g. comic, are turned into adverbs by adding the suffix -ally. The -ation suffix turns verbs into nouns. If a root words ends in a consonant, the suffix is added to the end, e.g. inform + -ation $=$ information. If the root word ends in an 'e', the ' $e$ ' is removed and the suffix is added, e.g. prepare + -ation $=$ preparation. If the root word ends in a ' $y$ ', the ' $y$ ' is replaced by 'ic' and the suffix is added, e.g. multiply + -ation = multiplication. | Rule:  Suffixes (vowel letters).  In words that end in a consonant, the final consonant is doubled when a suffix starting with a vowel is added if the stressed syllable is at the end of the root word, e.g. control +-ed = controlled. In words that end in a consonant, the final consonant is not doubled when suffixes starting with a vowel are added if the stressed syllable is at the beginning of the word, e.g. visit + -ing $=$ visiting. | Rule:  -sion and -tion endings  Verbs can be changed into nouns by having the /shun/ sound added to the end, e.g. confuse (verb) - confusion (noun). When following this convention, words ending in' $t$ ', lose the ' $t$ ' and have the suffix -tion added, e.g. correct + -tion = correction.
